COLLEGE OF
DIRECT SUPPORT
Internet-Based Learning for Direct Support Professionals

The College of Direct Support (CDS) includes courses and lesson content that is applicable to individuals with a wide variety of community human service needs such as in-home supports, employment, residential and other generic community service settings. The ability to customize the CDS courses through the annotation feature allows the purchaser to add information and content that can make the content even more relevant to specific target audiences. Below is a listing of the current CDS courses and their applicable target audiences noted in blue.
